Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 22 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Feeling cool, but many places staying dry. Sunny spells developing.

Today:
Sunny spells will develop as cloud breaks. Some early showers are possible, mainly near the coast, but most places will remain dry, as even the afternoon showers that develop will be isolated. Feeling cool. Windy along the coast at first. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Any early showers will quickly die away, leaving long clear spells. Air temperatures will fall close to freezing, and in rural locations a slight ground frost is possible. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Sunday:
After a dry, sunny and chilly start cloud will increase through the day, bringing a chance of a few showers. Wet and windy weather will spread east through the evening. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Sunny spells and showers on Monday and Tuesday, some heavy with a chance of thunder. Cloudy with showers or longer spells of rain, mainly light, for Wednesday. Feeling cool throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.